PRACTICE SUMMARY

Elizabeth represents a broad range of institutional and individual clients, both at the trial and appellate level, with a special focus on medical malpractice defense, long term care facility defense and insurance claims and coverage matters.

Elizabeth is a registered Rhode Island Lobbyist and has represented numerous corporations and trade associations. She has advocated on behalf of clients before the Rhode Island General Assembly on issues ranging from corporate and personal income taxation, insurance regulations, health care regulation and business issues. She has experience in drafting both legislation and amendments to legislation to assist clients with achieving their legislative objectives.

Elizabeth has also successfully represented businesses, individuals and non-profit organizations before Rhode Island administrative agencies on a wide range of issues.
